

A helpful guide to regular testing with DUVYZAT

Once you have started taking DUVYZAT, your healthcare provider will closely monitor your health through regular blood tests. This will allow your healthcare team to ensure DUVYZAT is working as expected. If side effects occur, contact your healthcare provider.

Blood tests you can expect after starting DUVYZAT:

- Blood cell count (CBC + differential) to check the levels of different types of cells in your blood
- Triglycerides to check the levels of a type of fat in your blood

These tests are more frequent at the beginning of treatment. Over time, they will become less frequent. Some tests may require fasting. Check with your healthcare provider before your appointments to confirm if fasting is required.

Please see the monitoring checklist on the back of this card to help guide you along your treatment journey.
